

BLM GROUP Opens its New Towcester Headquarters, Strengthening its Presence in the United Kingdom

BLM GROUP is strengthening its presence in the UK with the opening of its new headquarters in Towcester, Northamptonshire. The investment underlines the Group's commitment to being even closer to its customers and supporting them in identifying the most effective technology solutions to address the challenges of modern manufacturing.

BLM GROUP has had a presence in the United Kingdom since 1997. Over the years, the company has built strong and lasting relationships across the market, supporting a wide range of industrial businesses throughout their growth and development.

The new facility includes a dedicated showroom designed to give visitors a comprehensive overview of BLM GROUP's technology portfolio. From Lasertube systems and tube bending machines to laser solutions for sheet metal processing, the Group's wide range of technologies is showcased in an environment where customers can explore their features in greater detail and assess their potential applications. The new headquarters also includes dedicated onsite training facilities, providing customers and partners with opportunities for hands-on learning and technical development.

"This new project is a source of great pride for us and, at the same time, an important investment in our future," says Jon Curtis, Managing Director of BLM GROUP UK Ltd. "Moving our operations from Ampthill to Towcester will allow us to welcome customers into a larger and better-equipped environment, where we can provide comprehensive advice not only on our products, but also on the solutions and integrations the Group can offer. This perfectly reflects our claim: 'Many technologies, one partner'."

"For almost thirty years, we have built a recognised brand and developed a strong network of relationships in the UK, supported by the expertise and commitment of our sales and service teams. We have worked with some of our customers for many years and are particularly proud to have supported them throughout growth journeys that continue to this day. Our new headquarters marks another important step forward and will enable us to respond even more effectively to the evolving needs of the market", Jon adds.

To celebrate this important milestone, BLM GROUP UK will host a special event at its new Towcester headquarters from 6 to 8 October. Customers, partners and industry professionals will have the opportunity to explore the new facility, discover the Group's technologies and share in this significant occasion.
